Certification of a private health insurance coverage, for the granting of a residence title

(to be completed by the health insurance company)

Pursuant to section 5, subsection 1, no. 1, German Residence Act (AufenthG), the granting of a residence title usually requires a secured livelihood. Integral part of a secured livelihood is, pursuant to section 2, subsection 3, AufenthG the possession of an adequate health insurance coverage.

Foreign nationals who are not insured under a statutory health insurance must prove to possess health insurance coverage by means of a private health insurance. Since only a short-term residence of up to 36 months is planned, and since no employment or only one of minor relevance shall be taken up, a health insurance coverage which meets the minimum requirements pursuant to the EU Council decision of 22nd December 2003 (2004/17/EC) will suffice in this case. It must meet the following criteria:

a) The insurance covers all expenses for urgent medical attention and, if need be, repatriation for medical reasons.
b) The insurance is valid throughout the entire period of the person's stay in Germany (if need be, including an unauthorised residence).
c) The insurance is valid throughout the territories of all Schengen States.
d) The insurance provides a minimum coverage of 30,000 €.
